Very old Alvarinho vines on granite. Fermented slowly in 10 old French barriques.

Inviting aroma of barrel-fermented wine where the oak adds a creamy richness but does not dominate. Creamy citrus and mandarin and a delicate savoury/mealy note from the oak. On the palate, a dry but fruity flavour and texture. Deep and long and very fresh. Does not seem to have quite the concentration of some vintages but has excellent harmony. Has both textural complexity and lovely fresh fruit profile. Long, too. (JH)
