Touriga Nacional, Touriga Franca and Alicante Bouschet. Spontaneous ferment in lagar. Aged 12 months in French and American oak.

Darkest crimson with opaque core. Aromas of rich dark fruit and something like orange peel adding complexity. There's oak spice but not too prominent now on the nose. The oak shows a little more on the palate but the tannins have resolved into a finer texture than on the Touriga Nacional 2015. More savoury on the palate and finished fresh and dry. Well balanced and satisfying. Drink with food or wait a little longer. (JH)
