The 2016 Reserva Branco Andreza is the first Reserva blend, an unoaked and equal blend of Viosinho and Verdelho, with a little Rabigato, aged in used oak for eight months. Bright, nicely constructed and showing good structure, this shows well. The oak impact is nominal, barely noticeable, and it finishes with tension. It is dry and clean. More about acidity than fruit, it is very refreshing. This is another nice value that is easy to drink and solid enough for food.
